

Unexpected Insights: A Conversation Series with Jewish Women in Medicine

Presented by the Helen Morris
American Jewish Experience in Medicine Program

Passion and Perseverance A conversation with Dr. Rachel Brem

Dr. Rachel Brem was twelve years old when her mother was diagnosed with breast cancer—

The diagnosis, and her mother's survival, inspired Dr. Brem to dedicate her life to curing breast cancer, which she began doing after graduating from Columbia Medical school at 24.

At 37, she faced the same diagnosis and used her fight against and victory over the disease to further empower her work.

Today, she continues to change the face of breast cancer through her clinical and advocacy work, her attention to the BRCA mutation and her recently released book, "No Longer Radical."

Join us for a webinar conversation about her extraordinary mission and journey.
